Doesn’t it feel good to finally get back together in person? As you welcome employees back into your workplace, United Way invites you to help them re-connect with each other through giving back. We offer several team-building volunteer activities that will not only foster camaraderie, but also brighten the lives of some of our most vulnerable neighbors.

OPTION 1  KITS OF KINDNESS

Your team builds kits* of much-needed supplies such as:

- Ready-for-school kits
- Healthy family hygiene kits
- Weekend food bags for children

*C costs per kit can vary.

OPTION 2  COLLECTION DRIVES

Your team gathers important supplies that are outside of some families’ budget such as:

- New mother and baby (wipes, diapers, supplies)
- Cleaning supplies

OPTION 3  TOUCH SOMEONE’S HEART

Your team will write personal cards to brighten the day of someone special such as an older resident or a veteran.

OPTION 4  BUILDING EMPATHY

Your team will participate in a very unique engagement experience – The Poverty Spiral.

This multi-player activity presents up to six people with real-world situations and decisions that move them out of (or into) the spiral of poverty. The Poverty Spiral is a powerful way to prompt thought and empathy for those who struggle with basic needs. A United Way representative will be on hand to help lead this activity for your team.

Thank you for being such an important supporter of United Way, and we’re excited to be part of your back-to-work initiatives. Look for more in-person activities and volunteer opportunities in the coming months.
